SCHS JOURNALISM LIVE EVENT BROADCASTS

By Korey Hanson

The SCHS Journalism Class has begun live streaming sporting and school events on their “Sheldon Clark High School Broadcasting Network” on YouTube.com. “We will be able to broadcast home basketball games, school activities and even graduation,” stated journalism teacher Marcie Hanson. “This is a remarkable learning experience for all of our students, whether it be through commentating, technology, videography and more!” Each class member will learn streaming technology, verbal commentary and how to run sound and camera. Live broadcast links can be found on the SCHS Journalism Facebook Page or directly on the Sheldon Clark High School Broadcasting Network.

MARTIN CO. MIDDLE Cookies, Cocoa & Canvas at MCMS

Submitted by Trista Stafford

MCMS students had a terrific time at the very first Cookies, Cocoa, and Canvas event. Students enjoyed delicious Christmas cookies, warm cocoa, and popcorn while painting a beautiful Christmas themed canvas. Students could choose between two different canvases prepared by MCMS art teacher, Mrs. Farley. The event was the perfect way to get into the Christmas spirit. Mrs. Stafford and Mr. Farley would like to thank everyone who helped make this wonderful event possible.

Christmas Around the World

MCMS students in Mrs. Trista Stafford's journalism classes performed their annual Christmas Around the World Fashion. They performed at all three elementary schools and at MCMS. Students were dressed in the traditional attire of various countries around the world while teaching the audience about their customs, traditions, and culture. The show concluded with a beautiful flute solo by MCMS eighth grader, Lexi Hensley.

WARFIELD ELEMENTARY WES Awarded NEA Read Across America Grant

By Andrea Mills

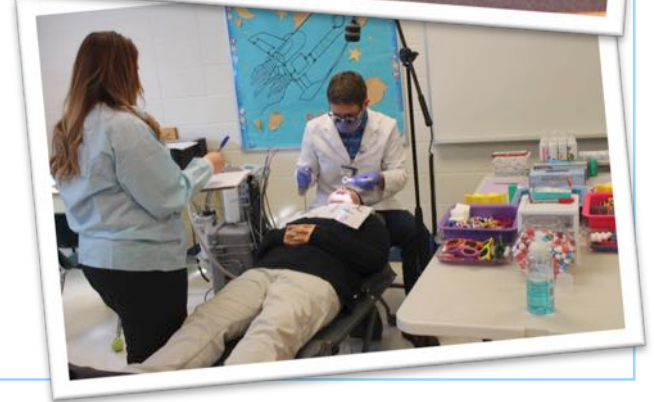

Warfield Elementary School was pleased to find out they were the recipients of a one-thousand dollar grant from NEA's Read Across America. WES librarian Dorothy Stacy applied for this grant last fall along with 3.9 million others who applied, and luckily she received one of the one hundred one-thousand dollar grants. This grant will be used to purchase many new books at WES for their library in hope to help promote the literacy program in grades Kindergarten through Fifth grade! Also, the new books purchased will assist student enjoyment of reading and supporting the schools literacy curriculum. All students and staff of Warfield Elementary School are beyond excited to get new books into their school to read!

ATC IT Designs Websites, Makes Computer Repairs

Martin County ATC IT instructor Jason Rose, Health Sciences Instructor Dawn Goble and Principal Martha Williams attended training sessions to develop project-based learning units within career and technical programs through the Southern Regional Education Board. These projects are designed around real-world complex tasks students create, build or design while taking active responsibility for their learning.

This improves students by challenging them to problem solve, have higher order thought and take the time to analyze their learning. Students collaborate with business partners while providing important services to its clients. PBL provides 21st Century learning through teamwork skills, employability skills and more. In addition to creating websites for local businesses, Mr. Rose's class is repairing computers for any interested parties. For more information, contact the ATC at 606.298.3879.
